

WANT DETAILS ABOUT PANAMA

Congress to Ask the President for All Correspondence with the New Panama Republic.

FLORAL DISPLAY

The Senate Chamber Looks Like a Hot House, with Many Set Pieces for Senators.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)

Washington, Nov. 10.—A call upon the President for all the correspondence and other documents in connection with the revolution in Panama was the feature of the first session of the House of Representatives at the extraordinary meeting of Congress.

While the Cuban reciprocity treaty is nominally the only business scheduled for consideration at the extra session, the adoption of the resolution calling for full details concerning the United States' connection with the Panama case makes it evident that the situation growing out of the isthmian revolution is likely to force a definite decision upon the question of the interoceanic canal.

The House resolution will incidentally have the effect of upsetting Senator Morgan's plans for creating all kinds of trouble for the administration because of what he, Senator Teller, and other term it "indecent haste in recognizing the new government."

Hanna to Succeed Morgan.

The correspondence will be sent in before the Senator has an opportunity to introduce a similar resolution in the Senate, and, by the time the Senate is ready to take the matter up, Senator Hanna will probably have succeeded Senator Morgan as chairman of the canal committee.

Preliminary steps for this change will be taken at a caucus of Republican Senators, at which action will be taken to make the committee a majority one, a move which will necessarily mean Senator Morgan's removal from its chairmanship.

To Negotiate for Canal.

Now that the Republicans are committed to the building of the canal by the Panama act, it is thought proper that the Republican Senators, who are responsible for party legislation, should take the control of the committee. Mr. Hanna has been its dominant member, and it is regarded as fitting that he should take Mr. Morgan's place.

The administration holds that it is its duty, under the terms of the Spooner act, to negotiate a treaty with Panama, and this will be done. Negotiations will be taken up with Panama at the point where Colombia rejected them.

To Ratify Treaty.

The Cuban question will be brought to the attention of congress through the introduction of a bill in the house approving the treaty as already ratified by the senate. The bill will be reported back from the committee on ways and means as soon as named and passed under a special rule, limiting debate and fixing the time for taking a vote, and will be sent to the senate, where of course it will be open to debate.

The Louisiana senators and others are prepared to make speeches against it, but the impression on both sides is that the bill will be passed without serious trouble.

Flowers for Senators.

With galleries crowded, the chamber a mass of elaborate floral tributes and nearly every senator in his seat, President Pro Tem Frye's gavel called the senate together.

More than two hours before the senate was called to order the galleries were filled. Occupation was found in watching the constantly arriving floral offerings. Senator Hanna's pronounced victory in the Ohio election won for him one of the most pretentious designs ever seen in the senate. The offering bore the inscription, "Senator Mark Hanna, from his friends, 'the Irish Democrats' of Cleveland."

Sensor Gorman's triumph in Maryland was recognized by a handsome wreath, with a crossed cluster of roses, carnations and chrysanthemums.

WOMAN BEATS AN AGENT
WITH FEATHER DUSTER

Man Sought to Take Piano From Premises and Threatened to Blow Out Her Brains.

Millville, N. J., Nov. 10.—Excitement reigned in South Fifth street when Elmer E. Keighley, agent for a piano company of Philadelphia, visited the home of Mrs. Susan Griffin and attempted to remove a piano from the premises because, he alleged, the weekly installments had not been paid.

As Mrs. Griffin opened the door, she told a magistrate, Keighley shoved her aside and seized the piano. When the woman interfered, she says, the agent drew a revolver, held it to her head and threatened to "blow her brains out" if she resisted.

It was also in evidence that Mrs. Griffin picked up a dusting brush from a table, pounced upon the hapless agent and administered a severe beating. The shouts of the man brought Thomas Cooper to the scene of the combat, and in five minutes half a hundred neighbors had gathered.

Keighley left the premises, cut and bleeding about the head and face. He swore out a warrant for Mrs. Griffin's arrest and she was taken before Mayor Payne to face a charge of assault and battery. When it was testified that Keighley used threats and flourished a revolver to back them, Mrs. Griffin was discharged, and her friends shouted in their enthusiasm.

The agent left for Philadelphia on the first train without the instrument.

Dearmond succeeds Underwood, Alabama. The latter's removal has caused much surprise.

STATE NOTES

That the "entertainments" or concerts, all of the Young Men's Sunday evening club of the Congregational church are Sunday evening attractions on a par with entertainments given at the Appleton theater is the allegation made by the company controlling the theater, in their address, delivered yesterday through Appleton papers, to those agitating Sunday closing.

George Moore, aged 13 years of Rhineclander, was killed by a rifle ball from the gun of a companion named McIntosh. They were shooting at a mark, when Moore stepped between the gun and the target. The bullet entered the back of his head. Moore was carried nearly five miles to his home on the back of his companion.

Miss Velma Hedlund of Cumberland was possibly fatally wounded in the back while hunting sparrows on her father's farm. In company with other girls, she ran after a fallen bird, when the rifle of one of the girls behind her accidentally discharged.

It is reported that the Fond du Lac-Oshkosh electric railway has offered the city $21,000 for the franchise that it seeks. The company at present comes in over the tracks of the Winnebago traction company, which, it alleges, subjects it to slow and vexatious delays. It is said to pay $1,000 a year for the privilege to the Winnebago company, which opposes the granting of the franchise.

While driving to a fire in a railway trestle behind the Atlas paper mill at Appleton the hose carls of Nos. 2 and 3 departments collided on a dike and the team of the No. 2 company was precipitated down a six-foot embankment and into a tailrace containing six feet of water, but were uninjured.

Andrew Willon, Appleton, who was found nearly asphyxiated in his bed Saturday, has not yet regained consciousness, and there is little hope of his recovery. For over twenty hours he had inhaled coal gas from a stove which he had put up to surprise his wife, who was away.

Elley Blinney, a wealthy young farmer of the town of Fitchburg, was struck by an Illinois train in Chicago yesterday and killed. The first report was that he had been killed by a falling footboard. He carried a large sum of money.

Charles F. Wendland, a carriage painter at Watertown, committed suicide by shooting early this morning. Worry over the cost of street improvements is thought to be the cause. He was 52 years old and leaves a widow and three children.

PRESIDENT URGES ACTION

Full Text of President Roosevelt's Message to Congress Read in Both House and Senate This Afternoon—It Is Full of Facts for Sober Reflection by the Present Session of Congress.

Washington, Nov. 10.—To the Senate and House of Representatives: I have convened the congress that I may consider the legislation necessary to put into operation the commercial treaty with Cuba, which was ratified by the senate at the last session and subsequently by the Cuban government. I deem such legislation demanded not only by our interest, but by our honor. We cannot with propriety abandon the course upon which we have so wisely embarked. When the acceptance of the Platt amendment was required from Cuba by the action of the congress of the United States this government thereby definitely committed itself to the policy of treating Cuba as occupying a unique position as regards this country. It was provided that when the island became a free and independent republic, she should stand in such close relations with us as in certain respects to come within our system of international policy, and it necessarily followed that she must also to a certain degree become included within the lines of our economic policy. Situation as Cuba is, it would not be possible for this country to permit the strategic abuse of the island by any foreign military power. It is for this reason that certain limitations have been imposed upon her financial policy and that naval stations have been conceded by her to the United States. The negotiations as to the details of these naval stations are on the eve of completion. They are so situated as to prevent any idea that there is the intention of ever to use them against Cuba, or otherwise than for the protection of Cuba from the assaults of foreign foes and for the better safeguarding of American interests in the waters south of us. These interests have been largely increased by the consequence of the war with Spain and will be further increased by the building of the isthmian canal. They are both military and economic. The granting to us by Cuba of the naval stations above alluded to is of the utmost importance from a military standpoint, and is proof of the good faith with which Cuba is treating us. Cuba has made great progress since her independence was established. She has advanced steadily in every way. She is loyally observing her obligations to us; and she is entitled to like treatment by us. The treaty submitted to you for approval, secures to the United States economic advantages as great as those given to Cuba. Not an American interest is sacrificed. By the treaty a large Cuban market is secured to our producers. A market which lies at our doors, which is already large, which is capable of great expansion and which is especially important to the development of our export trade. It would be indeed almost sighted for us to refuse to take advantage of such an opportunity and to force Cuba into making arrangements with other countries to our disadvantage.

This reciprocity treaty stands by itself. It is demanded on consideration of broad national policy as well as by our economic interests. It will do harm to no industry. It will benefit many industries. It is the interest of our people as a whole, both because of its importance from the broad standpoint of international policy and because economically it intimately concerns us to develop and secure the rich Cuban market for our farmers, artisans, merchants and manufacturers. Finally, it is desirable as a guaranty of the good faith of our nation towards her young sister republic to the south, whose welfare must ever be closely bound with ours. We gave her liberties of our soldiers who fought for her in war; by the memories of the wisdom and integrity of our administrators who served her in peace and who started her so well on the difficult path of self government. We must help her onward and upward; and helping her, we shall help ourselves.

The foregoing considerations caused the negotiation of the treaty with Cuba and its ratification by the senate. They now, with equal force, support the legislation by the congress which by the terms of the treaty is necessary to render it operative. A failure to enact such legislation would come perilously near a repudiation of the pledged faith of the nation.

I transmit herewith the treaty, as amended by the senate and ratified by the Cuban government.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

COLOMBIA READY FOR EMERGENCIES

CABLE COMPANY MESSAGES GO THROUGH CENSOR.

THE SITUATION IS CRITICAL

The State Department Does Not Think This Will Affect Messages to the American Minister.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)

Washington, Nov. 10.—Cable companies operating between the United States and Buena Ventura, Colombia, have this morning informed the state department that the Colombian government has given orders that a strict censorship will be conducted on all messages between Buena Ventura and the interior. This action it is not thought will in any way affect the dispatches sent by or to the state department from American Minister Beaupre at Bogota. Every indication points to the fact Colombia will make an effort to regain control of Panama by force of arms.

GOMPERS WARNS
TRADE UNIONS

Believes That Anti-Trust Legislation Is Aimed At Labor Organizations.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)

Boston, Mass., Nov. 10.—A warning to unions that much anti-trust legislation is secretly aimed at the labor movement was held out to the delegates of the American Federation of Labor by President Samuel Gompers in his speech at the opening of the convention in Faneuil hall. He declared that the labor leaders, all over the country, must use eternal vigilance when legislative bodies are in session.

Mr. Gompers also pointed out that a grave danger to the movement lies in the internecine strike, due to the conflicting claims of trade jurisdiction. President Gompers' address took up most of the afternoon. It showed that the gain in membership of the affiliated international unions and of the American Federation of Labor during the last year had been 442,100. Mr. Gompers reviewed at length what the federation had accomplished during the year.

TREASURER'S REPORT

The report of Treasurer John B. Lennon showed the income of the year was $247,600, the expenditures $196,015 and the balance on hand $84,000.

About 450 delegates were present. They were welcomed to Boston by Dennis D. Driscoll, president of the Central Labor union of this city.

COLOMBIA SEEKS FAVOR WITH UNITED STATES

Bogota Government Is Willing to Ratify Treaty if Panama Is Restored to Her.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Colombia at last, but too late, has come to her senses. She is repentant and wants to be good. She now realizes the result of her folly, and is willing to do anything to be restored to the favor of the United States and to recover the isthmus. Arrogance and indifference have vanished from the councils of the Bogota government, and in its place are found meekness and humility. But it is too late. Manifest destiny has rushed along and Colombia has been left behind.

The State Department received dispatches from Minister Beaupre at Bogota announcing that the Colombian government had proposed to ratify the Hay-Herran canal treaty at once if the United States was willing to receive it and to restore the former status on the isthmus. The Colombian government proposed to do this by calling its congress together immediately to ratify the treaty. Or if that was not satisfactory to the United States President Marroquin will issue an executive decree ratifying the canal convention.

This proposal from Colombia has been communicated to members of the cabinet in confidence, and it is not generally known in Washington. The reply of the American government has not yet transpired, but, of course, only one answer is possible. Colombia will be informed that the United States must decline its offer, because to accept it would be to become a party to the destruction of a republic, and that is a role which it does not suit the United States to play. The restoration of the status quo ante on the isthmus means that Panama would once more be incorporated in the Republic of Colombia. The Panamanians have elected to set up a government of their own. Colombia will be told by Secretary Hay when the time comes to answer its proposal, unflinching by the United States and without assistance from it. The United States has recognized that government, which is the end of the matter.

FROM COMMITTEE

Republican Senators Hold Caucus to Change Head of Canal Committee.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)

Washington, Nov. 10.—A caucus of republican senators was held this afternoon and they will depose Senator Morgan from the chairmanship of the interoceanic canal committee. Morgan is a direct opponent to the Panama route, favoring the Nicaraguan route.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES

The schooner C. A. Thayer, owned by E. K. Wood & Co. of San Francisco, has gone ashore at the entrance to Gray's harbor.

Officials of the Chicago & Alton railway denied there had been any attempt to hold up a passenger train near Roadhouse, Ill.

One million dollars' worth of the new Hawaiian bonds reached San Francisco. Bids for the issue are to be opened in Honolulu and New York on Nov. 13.

The state bank of Parkers Prairie, Minn., was robbed. The burglars blew the safe all to pieces. As nearly as can be ascertained, they secured a little over $3,000.

Frank Oakland and F. Lyburner, aged 10 and 12 years respectively, were playing in a quarry and found a can of dynamite. They touched a lighted match to it and were badly injured. They may not recover.

F. E. Myers, a prominent business man of Spring Hill, Ill., was arrested by Sheriff Fuller of Whiteside county on the charge of forging the names of L. C. Arnett, John J. Gould, and J. C. Myers to the amount of $2,500. He is in jail at Morrison.

The supreme court at Trenton, in the Jersey City tax case, decided that the boundary line between New York and New Jersey is in the middle of the Hudson river and in the middle of New York bay, and that the New Jersey sovereignty is coextensive with this boundary.

Sheriff Love, of Kingsfisher county, Oklahoma, created a sensation by serving a warrant on J. W. Hoover, a prominent business man and agent of an Ohio bridge company, on an indictment charging him with murder.

The indictment grew out of the wreck of a bridge built by Mr. Hoover's company, in which two men were killed.

The special election in the eleventh district to choose a successor to the late Congressman Boreing will be held today. The name of Dr. Godfrey Hunter, former minister to Honduras, will be on the official ballot in some counties, while that of D. C. Edwards will appear on tickets in other counties. Former Congressman J. D. White, is running as an independent.

DENTIST SLAYS
ENTIRE FAMILY

He Even Summoned His Daughter Home From College To Kill Her.

MAN WAS INSANE

Had Worked So Hard His Mind Became Unbalanced, and He Feared the Future.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 10.—Realizing that he was going insane, and believing that his family would suffer in consequence, Dr. Eugene W. Light shot his wife and daughter and committed suicide at his home in this city. His daughter, Ruby, who was attending the Michigan Agricultural college, was summoned home by her father in order that he might kill her.

The daughter was dead when found, but Mrs. Light was still alive. It is stated at the hospital that she is slowly sinking. She has been unconscious ever since she was found.

The discovery of the tragedy was due to a letter which Dr. Light wrote to R. B. Taylor, an intimate friend, in Bay City. In it the writer stated that he was suffering intense pain in his head and that he could not leave his dear ones to suffer when he was gone.

"It would be worse than death for them to stay here; it will soon be over. Something tells me I must," the letter ends.

Arrives Too Late.

Mr. Taylor received the letter and he came at once to Saginaw and proceeded to the residence of Mr. Light. Receiving no response to repeated rings at the doorbell, a neighbor was summoned and the house entered by means of a ladder through a window on the second floor. There they found Light lying dead on the floor, while his wife was gasping nearby, with a bullet hole through her head.

Searching the house the body of the daughter, the only other inmate of the house, was found lying on the floor of the kitchen with three bullet holes through her head and one through her right hand. All were attired in their night clothes.

Light had swallowed carbolic acid.

Insane From Overwork.

Dr. Light, who was a well known dentist, had suffered for months from nervousness and head trouble. He left a letter to the sheriff, saying he was going insane from overwork. He was 62 years old, and went to Bay City from Ohio twenty-three years ago. Eight years ago he removed to Saginaw. He had a large practice and was well to do. His wife was prominent in society.

BISHOP IS HURT IN A RUNAWAY

Milwaukee Prelate Severely Shaken by a Frightened Horse.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 10.—Confined in a closed carriage, with the horses running at terrific pace and the driver totally unable to control them, Bishop Isaac Lea Nicholson narrowly escaped serious injury when the carriage collided with a street car at Third and Cedar street, throwing the driver from the seat. Bishop Nicholson calmly stepped from the carriage with only a bruise on his wrist and assisted Frank Larney, the driver, from beneath the carriage.

THE THIEVES ARE STILL AT LARGE

It Is Thought They Made Their Escape in a Boat.

The thieves who robbed Bonahoom & Baccas's store Sunday night are still at large and no strong clue seems to have been discovered. It is hoped that the account books and bank books will be found somewhere along the banks of the river, as they were evidently taken with the hope that paper money would be found between the leaves. It is thought that the thieves made their escape in a boat. The rear of these stores on the bridge cannot be patrolled by the night watchman and are, therefore exposed to raids of this kind. No particular precautions have been taken to make the back doors and windows difficult of access.

JAPANESE LAKE WELL DESCRIBED

INTERESTING LETTER FROM THE FAR OFF LAND

LAKI HARUNA IS BEAUTIFUL

Mr. Hibbard Writes of a Recent Visit to a Magnificent Sheet of Water

Below is printed another interesting letter from far off Japan. Mr. Hibbard, the writer, gives a most interesting account of a trip he made to Lake Haruna and in graphic language he describes the scenes that surround him in his every day life in the land of the Mikado.

A Trip to Lake Haruna
A few days ago feeling the need of a long walk, I started out with a friend for a visit to Lake Haruna, considered one of the most beautiful places in Japan. We left Karuizawa at six a. m. and a three hours ride took us down the steep mountain railway almost to sea level.

From the thriving city of Mochibashi we took horse car eight miles to Shibuogawa. The day was fiercely hot and the car was of the "twelve people-get-in" variety. As a matter of fact eight people could get in with a fair degree of comfort but twelve.

The car moved along at a very fair rate but the horses were changed at least every two miles so that our progress was rather slow and it was after eleven when we reached Shibuogawa. From there a good road but steep leads up to Kato one of Japan's most famous watering places. The average tourist rides up in a rikisha drawn by two men or more but as we were not "doing" the country in that style we walked and carried our luggage. A five mile climb brought us to the city and a quiet place it is. Terraced into the mountain side it rises two thousand five hundred feet above the sea with a magnificent view of plain and mountain stretching away below. The town seems to depend for its existence on the visitors that are brought there by the hot baths which are said to have helpful medicinal properties. We found a very good foreign hotel, where after our hot walk we were glad to test the qualities of the hot bath (temperature about 115 degrees) and afterwards enjoyed a good meal in foreign style.

After dinner we went to our rooms and enjoyed the magnificent view while we took our midday rest. If you can imagine one of the raised maps that form the equipment of an up-to-date grammar school greatly enlarged without softening the outline except by wrapping it in a faint mist you get some idea of the Japanese mountain landscape. In the valleys there are often exquisite bits of forest and stream but as a rule the country is geologically speaking too new to have the softness of line that we have in our hills at home.

Start Again
A couple of hours later we made up our packs and started out again. We left the hotel with some regrets knowing it was the last of foreign accommodations until we reached the end of our trip. The bill which we paid was considerably less than it would have been had we ridden up in state but I could not see that we suffered in any way from inferior accommodations. Before we left the town we sought a curio store in order to pick up a bit of the wood carving which is the melba of the famous product of the town. One other product in which we did not invest is a cotton cloth of a rather unattractive but color dyed in the waters of the hot spring. The mineral coloring matter is believed to have the same curative properties as the water in an increased degree. It is consequently much worn as belts and bands for its curative properties.

We found along the terraces as we wandered through the town wire baskets hung at short intervals. At night these are filled with oil soaked pine and lighted up so that the whole city terrace above terrace is aglow. It is a beautiful place by day and by night it must be a very fairyland.

Up the Mountain
From the village our road wound up the mountain side a steep and rocky path over which the only means of conveyance is the native "kago." This is a portable bamboo arrangement without any place for one's feet. For the Japanese it is not uncomfortable as they are accustomed to the position which to a foreigner is extremely cramped. The chair is carried by means of a pole and the men strike a very easy swinging gait which carries one along rather faster than an ordinary walk. Foreigners when possible prefer to use a more modern device carried by four men but it is more awkward, twice as expensive and on many paths altogether impracticable. We met a great many of these strange conveyances logging along. When anything stops a string of them the effect is very much like an eddy in a stream; the men in front call out, but those in back cannot stop instantly, and the chairs swing together and bounce about in great style to the tune of a most vigorous shouting on the part of the porters.

Sunset
When at last we tipped the top of the ridge the sun was just setting and a magnificent sight lay before us. The mountain is an extinct volcano and before us lay the ancient crater. The narrower way it was perhaps a mile or more across and the greater diameter was nearly three miles as I estimated. In the center was a perfect cone rising to the height of perhaps eight hundred or a thousand feet above the rest of the crater. All around the sides was the high wall of crumbling rock and rich grass growing soil. In the middle foreground was a fine herd of cattle quietly grazing on the rich grass. The soft beauty of the scene was in strange contrast with what must have gone on there in ages past.

The Beautiful Lake
A walk of a mile or so down into the crater brought us within sight of the lake which lies beyond the cone-like mountain in the center of the crater. As the darkness gathered over the lake a single boatman skulled his boat across the quiet water giving the only touch of human life to the whole scene. No house was in sight but as we rounded a turn in the road a Japanese dog rushed barking out from a little tea-house or Japanese hotel hidden close beside the lake, and we found that they were willing to take us in for the night. A dip in the lake prepared me for any food, Japanese or foreign, and afterwards when we settled down in our neat little room looking out on the lake I was glad to do the Japanese rope that was brought to me and it needed only the appearance of the first supper dishes to bring a peace that was truly oriental. The supper they brought consisted of rice, well cooked eggs, a variety of pickles and delicious carp fresh from the lake served with the native sauce called "shoyu." A charcoal burner was brought in with a skillet and soon we had our bacon sizzling and that with bread we had, made us a veritable feast.

Held Conversation
My friend spoke no more Japanese but I but when after supper the family: father, three sons, and three daughters came in to see what we would say we talked to them as best we could and greatly enjoyed it. The children came without any excuse but the father made an excuse of the hotel register which, like your meals, is served in your room in a Japanese hotel. According to the police regulation he took our age, nationality, profession, residence, destination, etc., and then turning back a couple of pages showed us an entry in good English script which, however, was a sore puzzle to him. There were the names of a couple of Englishmen who had spent the night there a few days before and not understanding Japanese they had made their own entries in the register. We helped him out by making the names over into the Japanese syllabary as best we could but when they made of the dignified name of Captain Hollywood "Howlinghulu" it was most too much for our equanimity. All stayed and talked until nine o'clock when we indicated our desire to retire and they withdrew after spreading the blankets for our night's rest.

On the Lake
In the morning we were up before five and slipped out across the lake to climb to the highest point for an early morning view. There was no path and as we climbed straight up the side through grass three feet or more in height we were soon wet through and very much out of breath. It took us thirty-five minutes of hard climbing to reach the summit and just as the sun was up. It was a perfectly clear morning and never in my life have I seen such a view spread out before me. To the west across a half dozen smaller peaks towered old Asama, to the south fully a hundred miles away as the crow flies toward Fuji's mighty cone clear out against the morning sky and to the southwest stretched the great plain out to Tokyo and the sea fifty miles away. From our elevation (about 5000 feet) the rivers looked like silver ribbons and the distant towns as if they might have been taken from a child's Noah's ark.

Took a Swim
Soon we clambered down and after a dip in the clear waters of the lake we were glad to eat the breakfast waiting for us. At half past eight we were on the road again. Again we climbed up over the side of the crater and descended this time into a beautiful gorge with all manner of fantastic rock shapes. Magnificent cedars towered among the rocks, for this is sacred ground. Great masses of rock poised on foundations seemingly a hundred years old or more. The Japanese cedar is exquisitely beautiful and nowhere seem to more advantage than in that rocky gorge.

Hard Climbing
The balance of the trip was hard and uninteresting. We climbed pass after pass and still the miles stretched away seemingly interminably and when after twenty odd miles of hard mountain roads under a burning August sun and carrying a thirty-pound pack we finally reached the town whence we were to take the train; it was to find ourselves completely worn out and a half mile from the station at train time. By good fortune we found some Rikishas and tumbled in with faint hopes of making home but the train was five minutes late and we rushed into the station after the ticket window had been closed, rushed the gates and made the train after which we forgot the weariness of the day's tramp in the pleasure of a good bath and a full meal at home.

OAKLAND AVENUE EXTENSION REPORT

Was Given More Time by Councilmen—Committee Suggested New Plan.

The subject of the extension of Oakland avenue which had been referred to the judiciary committee was referred to by Alderman Lowell. The latter with two other council members had gone out to Oakland avenue and looked over the site. Mr. Lowell stated that the extension as planned would take the road across a deep ravine and that there would be considerable expense involved in continuing the work at this point and that the road would end in the middle of a lot. He believed that the extension of Valentine street, further north, would be preferable. This job would cost considerably also, but seemed to be the best. The cost in this case would arise from the heavy filling necessary. Alderman Lowell suggested that two property owners be asked to donate the right of way. After further talk on this subject the matter was given more time.

RINGLING'S CIRCUS IN WINTER QUARTERS

Season Comes to an Abrupt End on Account of Yellow Fever.

J. E. Joyce returned to Janesville Sunday night. He has been with Ringling Bros. circus during the past season, acting as keeper of the leopards. The circus gave its last exhibition at Malden, Missouri, on November 6 and remaining dates were cancelled. It was to have made its last appearance at Shreveport, Louisiana, on the 14th, but the balance of the tour was given up on account of the yellow fever and malaria which are prevalent in that region just now. Frank Gardner, keeper of the baby camel, and Will Hogan have also returned to this city. The latter was ill with malaria for several weeks.

SMALL AUDIENCE HEAR MINSTRELS

Gideon's Colored Entertainers Gave a Good Entertainment at Myers Grand Last Night.

Gideon's Colored Minstrels attracted only a small audience to the Myers Grand last evening, but those present were well satisfied with the entertainment. The voices were well blended and the singing uniformly excellent. The selections, however, were mostly vocal ones such as "The Paragonist Com" and the troupe would score a bigger hit with an entire new program. Skinner Harris, was the most amusing of the comedians. The dancing and other specialties, including the trick bicyclist, were good.

POTATO MARKET IS STEADIER NOW

Fruit Sales Are Slow at Present—Eggs Go Skyward—Turkeys Contingue Scarce.

Apples, $2.90@3.40. Potatoes, 70c bu. Sweet potatoes, 7 lbs. 25c. Cranberries, 10c qt. Concord grapes, 35c basket. Catawbas, 25c pony. Malagais and tokays, 15c lb. Cabbage, 5c head. Duck, 15c lb.

Potatoes Better
Potatoes have advanced to furnish the liveliest features of the general markets. An increase of over five cents a bushel has taken place during the last two weeks. This leaves the market at seventy cents a bushel, with little possibility of even a small fluctuation, one way or another during the coming week. Most dealers believe that the price will not overrun the eighty-cent mark before the new tubers have found a rational normal price and that the feverish fluctuation has at last ceased.

Shipping to Capital City
Several imported carloads of potatoes from the sand districts about Portage and Neenah have been purchased on the tracks at sixty-five cents a bushel at Madison. Fifty cents is paid to growers. Potatoes now left are of better keeping quality though the general quality is only fair to good. Farmers in the sandy district are reported as storing all the crop they can possibly find in barns and cellars. The facts are not worrying local dealers as the over-supply of the west and east will be marketed gradually and will be available in Chicago at a figure estimated by experts at from forty-five to sixty cents.

Fruits, Poor Demand
Stock vegetables have continued to hold their own but fruits meet only a poor demand. Grapes have slumped somewhat. This is likely due to the poorer quality of concern. The grapes have been off the vines for two or three weeks and the are now kept in cold storage for the holiday trade. It is good policy for planters to off the market and will remain out for a week or ten days when southern stock arrives.

Extra fancy new Smyrna figs have at last reached this part of the state. They meet with ready sale at from twenty to twenty-five cents a pound as both appearance and quality are excellent. The elegant figs are usually exhibited in odd boxes containing fifty pounds. Six or eight figs make a layer of three inches in thickness. The other dimensions of the boxes are three and two and a half feet.

Dates Coming
Ten days ago the first lot containing new crop dates from the orient arrived in the port of New York. Others have followed closely after and the desert dainty is now being shipped westward by the carload. Janesville stores will be generously stocked with in a few days. Dates have during the past decade, been brought to market so economically that they can be bought throughout the winter for from 5 to 10 cents a pound. Retailers say that popular taste for dates is rapidly increasing. Bananas, oranges and dates easily constitute the trinity of popular fruits.

Dairy and Poultry
Remarkable firmness has developed in butter and eggs. An increase of two cents in each is expected before Thanksgiving and it may come within a week. Eggs are unusually high for early November and a further increase will likely be hard to sustain because of the cold storage competition. Poultry is still scarce and high and dealers are wondering what they will do when Thanksgiving comes round.

STREET RAILWAY SUIT IS DROPPED

Aldermen Agree with Company's Lawyer That There Was No Cause for Action.

On motion of Alderman Lowell the suit against the street railway company for violating the ordinances was ordered dropped at the meeting last evening. M. G. Jeffris, who was present, spoke in behalf of the company and stated that since the action had been started a crew of men had been put on the tracks with orders to put things right. This had been done and he asked that the suit be set aside as it would only involve lengthy and expensive litigation. Mr. Klein was asked to give his view of the situation and he stated that he had tested the tracks and where there had been a voltage as high as 20 and 21 previous to the repair work of the company, the leakage had, when he last inspected, which was a year and half ago, been reduced to practically nothing. Under these conditions it seemed best to the councilmen to adopt Mr. Jeffris' suggestion and the suit was accordingly dropped without costs.

SMOOTH SCHEME WAS OFFERED

ALLURING LETTERS SENT TO ROCK COUNTY FARMERS.

NJ NEED TO WORK LONGER

Three Thousand Monthly Very Easily Made Some Men Bite, and Seem Pleased.

Much mystery surrounds certain communications which have been received by a number of farmers and business men in this county. The men who have received the alluring epistles are mostly farmers in this vicinity. The majority of them have each had three letters sent from an Illinois town. They are written by a man with a great invention and agencies to sell. They are most emphatic in their descriptions of the way riches are won by his honorable method. According to the man's story, if you invest in his scheme you are certain of returns amounting to about five hundred per cent. and over on your money.

The men who have responded and there are a number of them not far from Janesville, seem pleased with the new business, claim it to be "above board," yet all keep a discreet silence as to the methods employed and character of the deal.

The following letter was received by a prominent business man and in the second one sent him is a counterpart of the letters left at the homes of many Rock county farmers.

Dear Sir: We wrote you some time ago but have no record of your reply to the letter, in which we sent you our great proposition, and terms under which men are making such good money. If you did reply we shall take it as a favor if you will write us again, and we shall take pleasure in trying to find your letter. If you received our letter and did not think it worth while to investigate the matter, we beg to say that we trust you will at least read the enclosed statements of the men who are now in the business upon just the same terms that I offered you in my other letter and repeat in this. My proposition in brief is this: I want men (and women, too) who can interest their friends and acquaintances in the proposition either by correspondence or a personal interview. To such I give a commission of one-half the sales I make to the people who come or write to me through their recommendations. I require all to invest at least $500 in a county right themselves, but I do not insist upon spot cash if a man gives a good note for a part of the purchase. All the parties in the enclosed list bought territory upon the plan above named, and are all now making more money than they ever made before. I will give you the addresses of all when you come, and if the statements are not true, I will give you a counter-claim and agency free of charge. You need not give up your present business, but can devote a few hours of an evening writing to your friends, after you come and learn how paying the business is. I writing to them also and all sales coming from the same will be credited to you just the same as if you had made the sale without my help. I have two ladies in this town, who made $3000 last month, just writing letters to their friends, interesting them, and I sold to them after they came and saw what a good thing it was. You can do the same from your home, as there is no limit to where you can get customers.

Make Investment
If you are able to make the investment as above stated, I will furnish you a ticket, free of cost, on which to return home but of course I could not do this for a man who was not able to become a customer in case the business suited him, nor to one who has to go home to get the consent of some one else. I refer you to my bankers' statements enclosed, and trust that you will not regard this as a catch-penny matter. My sales for the month of July were $50,000, for August $62,000 and for September $100,000, of which my agents secured one-half of all they help to secure. I am in my office every working day from 7:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Please write me stating how much of an investment you could make in a paying business and oblige. Signed,

SIMPLE REMEDY FOR CATARRH

Just Breathe Hyomel Four Times A Day and be Cured.

If a few years ago some one had said you can cure catarrh by breathing air charged with healing balsam, the idea would have been ridiculed, and it remained for the eminent investigator, H. T. Booth, to discover in Hyomel this method of cure.

Hyomel has performed almost miraculous cures of catarrh and is today recognized by leading members of the medical profession as the only advertised remedy that can be relied upon to do just what it claims. The complete outfit of Hyomel costs but $1.00 and consists of an inhaler, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomel.

Breathe Hyomel through the inhaler for a few minutes four times a day and it will cure the worst case of catarrh. It soothes and heals the mucous membrane of the air passages, prevents irritation, and effects a complete and lasting cure. In Janesville there are scores of well known people who say they have been cured of catarrh by Hyomel. If it does not cure you Peoples Drug Co. or King's Pharmacy will return the money you paid for Hyomel. This is the strongest evidence that can be offered as to their faith in the remedy.

Important to Women!

EVERY WOMAN knows that the secret of a successful and happy life lies in preserving the charms she already has, or in restoring those she has lost. She may have the sweetest disposition in the world, but unless nature has bestowed upon her a clear complexion, rounded features, a well-turned neck and beautiful bust she is seriously handicapped. Men are attracted and held by these charms, and she is a wise woman who will strive by every means to preserve or restore these blessings.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD
should be used by every Woman who has the least desire to be attractive. It is the only preparation that will round out hollowed, thin cheeks or scrawny neck with FIRM, HEALTHY FLESH and REMOVE WRINKLES from the face and hands, no matter how deep the furrows.

FOR DEVELOPING THE IMMATURE BUST
or to make the breast firm, large and beautiful, nothing can equal it. To prevent the breasts from shrinking mothers should always use Dr. Charles Flesh Food after weaning baby. It will also restore a bosom to its natural contour and beauty lost through this cause.

SPECIAL OFFER.
The regular price of Dr. Charles Flesh Food is $1.00 a box, but to introduce it into thousands of new homes we have decided to send two (2) boxes to all who answer this advertisement and send us $1.00. All packages are sent in plain wrapper, postage prepaid.

FREE. A sample box—just enough to convince you of the great merit of Dr. Charles Flesh Food—will be sent free for 10 cents, which pays for cost of mailing. We will also send you an illustrated book, "Art of Massage," which contains all the proper movements for massaging the face, neck and arms, and full directions for developing the bust. Address, DR. CHARLES CO., 19 PARK PLACE, NEW YORK.

FURS—"EVERYTHING IN FURS"
A great collection of all the desirable furs of the present season, most prominent of which are the Fox, the Isabella and the Sable. Prices range from $5 to $45 and at every price between are values that are making friends for the new store. A splendid line of children's fur sets.

COATS
The 24 inch Electric Seal coat which we offer at $25 is certainly a great coat at the price. It has a guaranteed skinners' lining and comes in all sizes from 34 to 44—another of equal value is the Nearseal coat at $37.50.

CLOTH GARMENTS
To look here is to find the best in winter coats for ladies and misses. Many of the nobby ones which you have noticed on the street are from our department. Business to date has been great in this line—there are reasons why others buy here, why not you?

GOOD TEMPERANCE WORK.

The Catholic Total Abstinence Union has a membership in the United States of 100,000 and the society is accomplishing a world of good among the young people of that church.

It is generally supposed that all church members are total abstainers, but this is by no means true. There are plenty of men whose names are enrolled as members of Protestant churches, who take an occasional glass, and instances are not uncommon where habits are fixed that are not creditable to the cause.

The Catholic church acquires its members largely through confirmation, and in caring for the morals of young people, the church is wise not only in throwing around the home the safeguards of the church, but in encouraging every movement that contributes to the strength of moral character.

The C. T. A. U. is a power for good and entitled to every encouragement. Not long ago, at 10 o'clock on a Sunday night, half a dozen boys from 18 to 20 years of age were singing in an alley near the back door entrance of a saloon. Presently they sauntered out on the street and made their way to a restaurant for a lunch. They were in all stages of intoxication from tipsiness to helplessness and every last one of them were from Protestant homes, and some of them from Christian families.

The sight was pitiable and the results of Sunday carousal no doubt many a heart ache and sad misgivings for the future.

There is a chasm between boyhood and manhood, which has engulfed many promising lives, and it is more deep and dangerous today, than at any time in history.

The Catholic church attempts to bridge this chasm, and it is safe to say that the army of young men 100,000 strong will be saved from moral wreckage, so far as the drink habit is concerned.

Protestant churches, with rare exception, say to the boy, in substance, after you have sowed your wild oats, and gone to the devil come back and repent, and we will help you to reform.

Every church of whatever creed, should keep its doors wide open for the children of the land, and the matter of entrance should be made so easy for them, that the church and the home working together, may safeguard them, and turn them into life possessed of at least good moral character.

There may be some formality about ritualistic service, and it may not appeal very largely to sentiment or a feeling of happiness that some people regard as the essence of piety, but he churches that observe it are noted for the care of their own young people, and for this respect are far in advance of many others.

JAPAN.

Japan still keeps up her war preparations. This is sensible from her view point. If she has to fight Russia, at all on the Manchuria or the Korean issue this is a better time for her to do it than a year hence or ten years hence will be, unless she can get allies in the interval. Russia is gaining strength in Manchuria steadily. Her railroads are transporting troops to that region. Japan can not be in a much better position a year from now than she is in today, while Russia in twelve months will be far more potent than she is now. Time is on Russia's side, as the astute men who are at the head of affairs in Japan know. This is why the little nation is getting herself in shape to fight when the overt act is committed by Russia, if it should be committed.

Just watch the list of dead hunters grow from now until the first of December and then wonder how any deer escape to tell their grand children to beware of man with a fire stick.

Colombia did not like to see Washington make such a to-do over that naughty little Panama, but they laughed themselves when Washington worried over the turning down of the other canal treaty last summer.

So the great Rockefeller family will not do out even if young Rockefeller junior does preach in a Sunday school against the crime of robbery while his father raises the price of oil. He has a daughter.

The supreme court has decided to help Minnesota along in its suit against the Northern Securities trust by putting the case forward for a hearing in January. It is a good beginning for the new year.

Now that the president has really stood up and said his say about the new republic of Panama all the nations have followed suit and said he is a very wise man.

The honorable Mark Hanna was given an ovation when he entered the senate chamber at Washington just because Ohio turned down the one ring circus of Johnson.

That new republic of Panama has begun all right and if it continues to have as strong an ally as Uncle Sam all through its existence it will do very well.

But when the world really understands that the Sultan of Turkey is sick, not shamming, then sympathy will go even to the heathen Turk.

Cleveland is still the sphinx of the democratic party. He says he does not want to be president again and Bryan says he does.

Chicago is to have a strike and a strike breaker. Both are bad for any community where honest labor seeks for a foothold and its rights.

So the German Emperor had to be fashionable and have an operation performed just to keep in touch with his dear Uncle Ed.

Just read the president's message and then learn the true solid status of the American people and what they really need.

The railroads in Iowa are not bothered by fear of a railroad commission but they have a lot of blackmailers there though.

That carp fishing expedition at Lake Koshkonong is going to do wonders for fishermen up there next summer.

Deer will today remember that there are four hunters looking for each individual one of them.

Hawatha would have mourned the tenth of November had been alive to see his pets of the forest slaughtered.

An Italian minister committed suicide rather than face the angry socialists in the chamber of deputies.

Henry Watterson could not save his son from defeat by that awful 400 of Gotham.

President Roosevelt is not to be bluffed and he will take the bull by the horns.

There will be a cannon in the chair of the house during the coming session.

PRESS COMMENT.

New York World: That a seat on change in New York has declined from $2,000 to $1,000 in Baltimore, from $11,000 to $4,500, in Chicago from $1,500 to $800, and in our own produce exchange and consolidated exchange from $550 to $150 and from $2,500 to $1,000 respectively, shows pretty conclusively that the great family of "lamb" has cut a few eye teeth.

Memphis (Tenn.) News: The style is accommodating to ladies this season. Ladies who have pretty necks may wear low collars and ladies who have skinny necks may wear high collars. If you see a lady wearing a high collar you must conclude that she has a pretty neck, but does not care to show it.

Chicago News: It does not establish their reputation as southern gentlemen and men of honor that certain put-up cotton brokers turned their backs on Secretary Wilson because in speaking of their operations he exercised the rare good judgment of calling a spade a spade.

Chicago Chronicle: A suit at law to compel the man who received stock in the ship building company without paying for it to step up to the captain's office and settling might cause several cases of nervous prostration as picturesque as the one which Mr. Schwab acquired some time ago.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The ban that President Roosevelt placed on the proposed Wilcox House uniforms is in accord with the democratic spirit which permeates everything he does. There is little demand for brass buttons and tinsel decorations in this country.

Memphis Commercial Appeal: The wrong man was lynched in Florida the other day, but as he was a white man it is nobody's right to howl.

La Crosse Chronicle: Russia evidently thinks that she can, but that perhaps it will be just as well not to.

Chicago News: Quarter Back Eckersall may not be a professional but Wisconsin players wish to call attention to the fact that there is nothing amateurish about his kicking.

FOLLOW THE SIGN

Is just what a great many farmers do. They see your advertisement on a board fence or post out on the country road and it brings them to your store. If a farmer is coming to town to buy a buggy, for instance, he is bound to visit John Brown if John Brown has a sign on the fence stating that he sells good buggies cheap. He'll go to Brown to see what he's got anyway. Now if you've got anything to sell, let the farmer know it. Signs in the city pay just as well. In fact they're a necessity here. When you're ready for the sign call on "Halley" and you'll be shown the latest and best ideas in all kinds of signs.

FALSE REPORT OF DIVISION IN ORDER

A. O. U. W. OFFICIALS IN JANESVILLE DO NOT FEAR SPLIT.

TROUBLE IS MOSTLY A RUMOR

Talk of Division Confined to Milwaukee, and Not Likely To Last.

In the opinion of the Janesville members of the A. O. U. W. that the movement which has been started in Milwaukee, toward the formation of a rival order will not amount to much. A Milwaukee paper recently stated that although the secession movement in the society failed to accomplish anything at the special session of the grand lodge, held in September, to consider the change in assessment rates ordered by the supreme lodge, the Milwaukee opponents of the increased rate have not given up their purpose of separating from the parent order and organizing a separate insurance society. Master Workmen of the seventeen Milwaukee lodges have received a circular letter from D. M. Wachter who was active in opposition to the new assessment rates before the grand lodge held its session, asking that delegates be appointed to represent the lodges in a mass meeting to be held November 15th in Milwaukee, to consider the advisability of establishing a new insurance order in that city.

Similar letters signed by influential members have been sent out. All the arguments heard against the assessment rates and plan of the supreme lodge are used in favor of the new society. The new rates do not go into effect until January 1st. J. M. Thayer, when interviewed on the subject said, he did not believe the movement would amount to anything even in Milwaukee. He said further, "Of course, all loyal lodges will remain just the same." "It is doubtful," said Mr. Thayer, "if they could secure license to do business in this state." He thought that the trouble was confined to a few disgruntled members.

No Rivals
Fred Smith said that he thought the article recently published in a morning paper gave a very wrong impression, as there had as yet no rival order been formed and that the local officers of the lodge were not expecting any trouble whatsoever. He said that he believed that should the order be formed it was likely that it would last.

WILL PLAY EAST SIDE MILWAUKEE

ON ATHLETIC FIELD NEXT SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

IT WILL BE A GOOD GAME

Little Likelihood at the Last Week's Contest Being Counted Out or Played Again.

In spite of the report going around that the game with Fort Atkinson will be played over again or not counted, there is little likelihood of anything of the kind being done. The cause for the talk was because some believed that there were professional players in the visiting team. It is thought that two of the players who lined up against the Flower City eleven were past graduates of the school and, therefore, should not have been in the team.

Nothing to Be Done
Prof. Buell said that he would not do anything about it, as he had signed the list the Fort Atkinson principal had presented, giving the eleven as students of the school and took the latter's word for the standing of the men. This would therefore end the matter so far as he was concerned.

Will Play East Side
This morning it was finally decided that the East Division high school of Milwaukee would play here and the details of the game were settled upon. The record of the old "East Side" of past years has been a good one and the team this year, although not having the record of some of its predecessors, is an excellent one and a close contest may be expected. The game will be called at two o'clock and while it is not expected that this school will bring a delegation like that of last Saturday, some rooters will come with the Cream City boys.

MARKET TALK ON CHICAGO EXCHANGE

Gossip At The Closing Of Today's Markets In Chicago—General Conditions.

Wheat opened weak on lower cables and big northwestern receipts. There was free liquidation around the opening by heavy offerings from the local professionals and tired longs. The December lost half cent and May 3/4. There was good buying on the early decline by the very best people steady both options. Later in the session the market turned weak, 1,537,817 against 1,507,652 a year ago. Northwest cast 1544 against 1153 last year. The weakness in wheat today is due to selling on the large Bradstreet's increase.

Corn
Corn opened lower in sympathy with wheat. Heavy offerings around the opening caused a loss of 3/4 cent. The market had a little support at the decline by commission houses the market holding fairly steady throughout the latter part of the session.

Oats
Oats opened weak in sympathy with other grains. Selling by commission houses and local professional broke the market 3/4 cent. The market acted heavy throughout the session but not much support. The big increase in receipts was the cause of weakness.

Provisions
Provisions held fairly strong considering the break in corn and lower hog market. The market was well supported by the packers on the decline. The close was quiet.

Miss Goelet and Her English Duke.

He was putting up a hard fight, poor fellow, with his coat-tails sticking straight out behind him.

A great deal is being said just now about the approaching marriage of Miss May Goelet to the English duke of Roxburghe. A wedding is an event which is always heralded with much interest. Whether it be just a common, ordinary, every-day wedding where the bride's own sister plays the soft, sweet wedding march, ever and anon striking the wrong note and getting confused when she tries to execute the cross-hand movement in a subdued accent during the ceremony, or whether it be the ultra-fashionable wedding of the most wealthy set where, in the presence of a vast and distinguished throng, two bank accounts are made to beat as one, or whether it be a great international wedding like that of Miss Goelet and the duke of Roxburghe, there is always a great amount of interest centered about it. Two vast continents are awaiting this wedding with almost breathless expectancy and a few general facts in regard to the couple, may be of interest.

The duke of Roxburghe comes from a lordly old English family and has a long, hyphenated title that can be set to music or folded up and carried in a gripsack. Miss Goelet is a belle of 25 and has a handsome figure, consisting of a 3 and seven eighths. Grand Duke Boris of Russia once made love to her in a rich, Russian dialect. He proposed to her in his official uniform, but she rejected his suit. It is said that seven other foreigners have sued her for her hand on bended knee, stopping here and there to think up the right word and then, at length, throwing all restraint and hurling heated words of love into her ear in a language that she did not understand.

The Duke of Roxburghe, although of proud and haughty lineage, is democratic in his tastes, is well liked by the common people, dressing plainly and modestly, and when he plays polo, democratically refusing to wear the customary riding boots, so that as he rides his horse hither and thither over the field his pants gradually work their way up to his knees in a way that greatly endears him to the hearts of the common people. The duke generally wears a suit of clothes that does not fit him with very much success at any point of the compass and a hat that strikes him at a very great disadvantage.

It is being told that there is a pretty little romance connected with the marriage of this couple. Some time ago a number of suitors were pressing their suits. But Miss Goelet spurned them all with contempt or something of that kind, for she yearned for a true hero with his hair parted just above one ear like a C. D. Gibson frontispiece and his head thrown back in a haughty and supercilious tone of voice. Among those who were spurned up one side and down the other was the Duke of Roxburghe, who is now her future husband. Stung by her refusal, the duke hastened away to the Boer war. One day on the faraway plains of South Africa a squad of British soldiers mounted on jaded army horses might have been seen engaging a force of Boers in an encounter. The British were dashing hurriedly and frantically across the face of the landscape pursued hotly and eagerly by their antagonists. Among the other riders was the Duke of Roxburghe. As the duke dashed across the scene, loping hurriedly on in his saddle while his horse trotted, he suddenly looked ahead and saw a British soldier who, in the heat of debate with the advancing Boers, and with the mad frenzy of battle in his nostrils, had hurried off without taking time to jump aboard his horse. He was putting up a brave fight, poor fellow, with his coat-tails sticking straight out behind him. In another moment the duke was at his side. A $30,000,000 vision floated before his eyes. And then, in the twinkling of an eye, the duke had reached down, grabbed the brave soldier by the back of the neck and by sheer brute force dragged him up and placed him on his horse's back about three-quarters aft. Then the two together, mounted on the same horse, galloped briskly away while their horse continued to trot. A loud huzzah was sent up by those who saw the fearless act. Even the Boers could not suppress their admiration. It was that act, it is said, committed on that faraway African field which really won for the duke his little American bride. Quickly the news was flashed home how the duke, while fighting the Boers and giving no quarter, had shared the hurricane deck of his horse with a poor soldier to whom he had never been introduced. It was the gallant sacrifice of a brave man who, notwithstanding a crick in his side from the jolting of a low-browed horse whose style of gait the rider's mind had never been able to fully grasp, did not swerve from duty's path. What is a pain in the side to a true hero with $30,000,000 in sight? When the duke returned from war, it is now being told broadcast in the two continents, he found that Miss Goelet's attitude toward him had in a great measure thawed out. The news of his brave act, how he had dragged a poor, unprotected soldier up off the ground, jerking the fellow's coat collar up over his head until his waistband rode the back of his neck, had preceded him, and he was now to Miss Goelet as he was to all, a regular Wednesday afternoon and Saturday matinee hero. She saw him now not as a poor and totally bankrupt English duke, waltzing and making mad love to-night and to-morrow trying to wheedle his washing from some struggling laundry on credit or holding up three fingers to a discouraged and misinformed barber, but she saw instead a fearless hero dashing madly across the scenery in faraway Africa and holding frantically to the pommel of his saddle. She saw him halt now in his mad dash, grab a fellow soldier by the nape of the neck and yank him up out of the bunch grass. She saw the man in safety placed on the horse's back and then she saw her gallant hero dash bravely away with his arms flapping at his sides like a pair of wings.

Miss Goelet has settled a handsome dowry on the duke. She has also agreed to have the old homestead of the Roxburghe fixed up regardless of expense. The woodshed is to be given a new coat of whitewash just as soon after the nuptials as possible without causing too much talk, and the family crest is to be resold and hung in the front hall down stairs, with its tail worn high, being held up by an emblematic festoon of American dollar signs.

Fourteen hundred bricklayers have been laid off in Cook county, Ill., and told that there would be no more work until late next spring. Four hundred will be discharged in December, and the industry closed down. The prevalence of strikes is given as the cause.

Labor men are deeply interested in the formation of the Structural Building Trades Alliance, which occurred at Indianapolis, Ind., recently. The movement and the formation of the new organization is the most gigantic union that has been formed of late years.

A strike occurred Nov. 2 at Niagara Falls affecting the whole works of the construction of three big Canadian power companies employing about 1,500 men. It was the result of an order, issued by the contractors taking effect Nov. 1, reducing the wages of the men 25 cents per day.

HOW TO GET WELL.

If one is sick and wants to get well there is just one way to go about it. That is to breathe pure air, drink pure water, and eat the right quality of food. That is all there is to it. Air, water, and food of a proper sort the body welcomes. Nearly every disease is caused by a lack of one or all of these things. Some doctors may tell you that pure blood, upon which good health depends, is made in some other way. The wise doctor will tell you it can be made from no other source whatever. People who are sick and want to get well will find that no food is more serviceable in the production of pure blood than Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit, and that none is more appetizing or more easily digested. Physicians who have studied the food question are warm in their endorsement of Shredded Wheat for invalids and for people suffering from some impairment of the digestive functions. I most cheerfully endorse Shredded Wheat as a healthy and highly nutritious food. Especially it is adapted for those who suffer from weak digestion and mal-assimilation. W. Carey Allen, M. D., Colorado Springs, Col.

MISS WIGGS' PRIZE STORY

(Copyright, 1902, by T. C. McClure.)

"A letter for you, Miss Wiggs," said the postman, smiling.

Little Miss Wiggs extended a trembling hand.

She carefully cut the end of the envelope with the scissors and drew out the letter. It was very brief:

"The editors of The Story Magazine take great pleasure in presenting the enclosed check as payment of the prize offered for the best short story submitted in their recent contest."

That was all. But a dozen pages of praise could not have pleased little Miss Wiggs more. It was not a large sum of money, to be sure, but to her it meant a great deal. Ever since that day three months before when she had mailed the story and the required subscription money she had waited and hoped with all the fervor of her little body.

There had been little sewing for her, to do of late, and she had watched her income dwindle away with growing fear. She had never thought of trying to write till Cordella Brown one day brought her a copy of The Story Magazine to read. Cordella was seventeen years old now and well along in high school, but she had never forgotten Miss Wiggs' kindness of former days.

When the girl was gone, Miss Wiggs picked up the magazine. Almost the first page to meet her eyes was an advertisement offering a prize for the best short story submitted before a certain date. It was then that the idea of trying to write a story first occurred to Miss Wiggs.

She had a tale of the first settlers in her memory handed down from mother to daughter, as such stories are. Moreover, she possessed a good education, a clear mind and plenty of leisure. Nothing was more natural, therefore, than that Miss Wiggs should write a story.

In due time the story was completed. Miss Wiggs copied it in her best handwriting and, inclosing the dollar demanded as one of the conditions of the contest, mailed it to the magazine. Then she told Cordella what she had done and even read her the first draft of the story.

When she had finished, Cordella shook her head. "I am sorry, dear Miss Wiggs," she said gently, "but I am afraid the story will hardly suit them." Then, with all the kindness she could command, she explained to the woman the needs of the magazine. It used little else than love stories, she said, and for that reason the editors would scarcely take the trouble to examine manuscripts of another character.

"But why not try again?" she finished brightly. "Our subscription has expired, and you can send in our renewal with the story. Please do, Miss Wiggs."

So Miss Wiggs did try again. Somehow as she sat in the darkened parlor a plot came to her, an idea for a love story, unique, clever, interesting. She told it to Cordella, and the girl clapped her hands joyously.

"Oh, it's ever so good, Miss Wiggs," she said. And when the story was written and read to her she gave it exactly the same praise. And now the story had won the prize.

The back door opened softly, and Cordella entered the house. It was some time before she discovered Miss Wiggs in the parlor. As the girl entered the room the woman looked up with a smile lighting her thin face.

"See, Cordella," she said, with childish glee. "I won the prize."

Cordella did not smile. Drawing a chair close to Miss Wiggs, she opened the magazine in her hand.

"I am going to read you a story," she said slowly, "that was printed several years ago."

Miss Wiggs smiled at the girl lovingly as she listened to the first few words. Then the smile gave way to a look of wonderment that in turn changed to one of pain. When the story was ended, she looked up at the girl with tears in her eyes.

"You don't think, Cordella," she began brokenly.

Cordella sprang to her side and placed an arm caressingly around the woman.

"Dear Miss Wiggs," she said quickly, "perhaps it was merely a coincidence or it may be you once read this story and then forgot it till it came back to your memory, apparently an original idea."

They sat silently in the little parlor till twilight fell. Miss Wiggs bravely kept back the tears, but the hand that Cordella held trembled constantly.

The postman's step sounded on the front porch, and Miss Wiggs opened the door for him. He handed her a long blue envelope.

"My story of the first settlers," she explained to Cordella, noting the name of The Story Magazine on the envelope. She tore it open and slipped out the manuscript. A little note came with it.

"Read it, Cordella," she said. "My eyes are not very clear today."

"The editors of The Story Magazine," read Cordella, "return the enclosed manuscript with much regret. Well written and readable as it is, the plot is somewhat hackneyed, and for that reason the story is returned."

With a sudden suspicion Cordella turned to the manuscript.

"Oh, Miss Wiggs," she cried, "it was your story of the old settlers that won the prize, after all. They have returned your love story."

Miss Wiggs smiled through her tears. "Cordella," she said, "we won't have to write that letter returning the check to the publishers tomorrow morning. We will take a little outing instead."

ZION CITY HAS BIG SENSATION

The Northwestern Road Removes All Zionites from Railroad Offices.

A sensation, which eclipses anything yet to occur at Zion City has gotten the best of the Chicago and North-Western Railroad company to the extent of $30,000.

The removal last week of B. G. Meyers as agent at the depot, and the announcement to the officials in charge of Zion that thereafter every piece of freight delivered to Zion must be paid for before being removed from the depot, caused great commotion among the followers who had been left behind by Dowle.

A new man, not a follower of Dowle, was at once installed as agent, and the books were gone over by experts of the company. That they discovered even greater differences than they expected was evident from the various changes and laws which they instituted at once in Dowle's town. Every Dowlette who had anything to do with the company was replaced by a non-believer.

The company, it is said, took advantage of Meyers' absence in New York with Dowle to go over the books.

The officials, it is said, agreed to keep the matter quiet until Dowle's return, but it leaked out in some manner. Dowle is due to arrive next Tuesday.

MERE OPINION.

The man who is afraid to exceed the speed limit never can be a hero to his own chauffeur.

It would be difficult to make some people believe champagne might taste just as good under any other name.

It is sometimes well to remember that if you don't say a thing you will have no occasion to unsay it later.

When a man is sued for breach of promise he is likely to find that an old love letter is worth much more than the paper it is written on.

A woman begins by sighing: "I can't go because I have nothing to wear." Then she gets clothes and frocks because she has no chance to wear them.

Before they are married he deems every hour lost that he cannot spend in her company. Afterward when she goes to visit her parents for a month or two he figures that it is just so much clear gain.—Chicago Record-Herald.

AMERICANISM.

The person who gets what he wants in exchange for his money always has a bargain.

It isn't always the most desirable customer who is the most captious about the quality of the goods and the manner in which it is displayed and delivered.

The man who kicks hardest over trifling defects in the hotel table service is the one who wouldn't let the hotel proprietor see the kicker's own home table for the price of a week's board.

The new lava stream from Vesuvius reaches to nearly half a mile from Pompeii and varies in width from fifty to sixty yards.

PAINTING LACE A FAD.

Artistic Girls Have Made the Discovery That Color Adds to Beauty of Fabric.

The fad for painting on lace gives a chance to the girl who has more artistic ideas than she has skill with her brush. A certain part of the design of the lace is selected, and the color is lightly applied. Care and lightness of touch are all necessary for the amateur to succeed as well as the artist. It is the easiest thing in the world to "bring out" the roses, and violets, and the different wreaths, and garlands which appear in the laces which adorn everything.

A white silk parasol with lace medallions can be made much more beautiful by adding color to it in this way. A simple little gauze fan with lace motifs set in becomes artistic if the tiny flowers are painted. A pair of pink silk hose with lace insets is worth double the price if the small sprays of arbutus in the design are just touched with pink.

Even the wash laces are painted instead of working out the design in colored cotton, as is also done on both lace and embroidery. The painting is a far less tedious process, and for this reason is a great deal more beautiful.

To make it practical for trimming wash gowns, the girls at the art institute use the little package dyes, which are indelible. Instead of paints, for their colors, and for a mixer, gasoline is used, adding a little at a time, as fast as it evaporates. This makes a color which is heavy enough for anything so transparent as lace, and which will stand the tubbing process.

Care should be taken in selecting a lace with a motif whose color can be carried out to combine artistically with that of the gown.—Chicago Tribune.

Raisins Afford Stimulus.

Raisins are specially valuable in cases where sustained physical exercise is necessary, affording both nourishment and stimulus. A bunch of raisins eaten when fatigued often serve the same purpose as a glass of wine. Figs and dates are both valuable in certain conditions, but should be thoroughly washed and looked over before eating. Green figs are an excellent food.

NOTED FORGER RETURNS HOME

Charles Becker Says He Will Be Good Hereafter.

New York, Nov. 10.—Charles Becker, who won $300,000 by forgery and counterfeiting and who aided in stealing the famous Gainsborough portrait in 1876, came to town a free man, to be good for the rest of his life, he says. Becker was liberated from San Quentin prison in California Aug. 10 after a seven years' sentence. So fearful were bank officials at the prospect of his being a free man again that it was reported, the American Bankers' Association hired him to behave himself at a salary of $500 a month. The report was denied later. Becker was driven to his old home in East New York and was welcomed by his wife. At the house it was deplored that he was home.

As a result the Eller home is being guarded nightly in fear that an attempt will be made to kidnap the girl and take her away by force. Her mother is anxious to have her daughter enjoy the wealth to which she has a right and has offered the girl $15,000 to come and live with her, but she has refused. The girl and her mother were separated by divorce proceedings.

He told Magistrate Mayo that his sister, Margaret Hobson, attending an older sister there, lost a purse containing $63 and a gold medal studded with thirty-eight diamonds. Hobson said this medal, which cost $1,000, was presented to him by the Southern society. Summonses were issued for the colored maid, the colored butler and Miss Murden, who conducts the sanitarium.
